HOW I LOVE MY CHURCH FAMILY

1 Corinthians 13:4-8

(Edited)

<sup>4</sup>I am patient, I am kind. I do not envy, I am not boastful, I am not arrogant, <sup>5</sup>I am not rude, I am not self-seeking, I am not irritable, and I do not keep a record of wrongs. <sup>6</sup>I find no joy in unrighteousness but I rejoice in the truth. <sup>7</sup>I bear all things, believe all things, hope all things, endure all things.

<sup>8</sup>My Love For My Church Family
Never Ends.

The Rantings of a Mac Man

Since I keep all the articles I have written on my computer, I have to keep them numbered to keep them separate. This article is Rantings of a Mac man # 52. This means that I have been writing articles for an entire year. I anticipated that someone would run to the elders and ask "Can't we get someone else to write articles"? And yet, no one has. I try not to get to repetitive in the subject of my articles which is difficult when you have a limited mind like mine. I truly appreciate my women-folk who serve as my proofreaders. Without them my articles would come out like "be ind on to anoher an br like Jesus". I also appreciate Laura for receiving them and getting them in the church bulletin.

On the beginning of this new year of articles I am thinking of anniversaries. Not anniversaries of marriages but anniversaries of events. Some events' anniversaries should always be remembered because we don't want to forget the impact that they had on us and our world. The anniversaries of Pearl Harbor and 9-11 jump to my mind when I wrote that line. Most national holidays are meant to cause us to remember but few on the actual anniversary of an event. The closest are the ones to commemorate someone's birthday but the actual holiday will change dates so that they fall on a Monday or Friday.

I find it interesting that God did not establish any event anniversaries in the New Testament. There are several mentioned in the Old Testament under the Jewish calendar but none in the New. Men have tried to establish some but those days are actually arbitrary. They established December 25th as the day to remember Jesus' birth but that date is not known and some have reasons to particularly deny Dec. 25th as His birthday. Easter, which is meant to commemorate the day of Jesus' resurrection, bounces around the calendar. We might get close to it but not for certain. I believe the reason that God didn't give us certain dates is that He wanted us to remember Him and His Son every day. Today we will do a special remembrance when we take the Lord's Supper. I am glad we do this every week.
